

OLD CONNELLSVILLE BAND PUT TOWN ON THE MUSICAL MAP

Tenth's Trip to Washington Recalls Earlier Suc- cesses.

MUSICIANS CUT A BIG FIGURE

Organized in 1869, for Years the Old Silver Cornet Band Bested All of Their Rivals in This Section; At the Centennial in Philadelphia

Cornellsville's band will take part in the inaugural parade at Washington next Tuesday but it isn't the first musical organization from this town which has helped put Cornellsville on the map. Since 1869 the Cornellsville band has stood for the best to be Found among organizations of its kind in the Centennial parade in Philadelphia, back in 1876, the Silver Cornet Band, as it was then known, gained statewide fame.

Few of the charter members are now living. Among them are Byron Porter, George B. Brown, A. A. Wetherill, Daniel C. Hood, W. H. Shaw and Charles L. Gray.

Organized during the year 1869 under the leadership of Charles Carrington, the Silver Cornet Band has a membership of 18 musicians, recruited from Connellsville and its surrounding towns. Quarters were secured in the old L. O. O. F. hall, on Main street, for practising purposes and there the band met each week.

Under Mr. Carrington's supervision the organization became one of the most efficient in Western Pennsylvania, winning first prize in every competition in which it participated. Its fame grew to such an extent that or-

One of the finest musical organizations in Maryland at the time, the Queen City Band of Cumberland, was a rival of the Silver Cornets. Invitations to participate in a competition at Cumberland were received by Mr. Carrington on several occasions, and Carrington's men went to Cumberland and defeated the challengers on their own ground. Other vanquished rivals included the old Washington and Loudoun bands, both of which bore enviable reputations.

The training of his old leader stood Mr. Hart in good stead in his position of authority, and he continued to build up the organization. It survived all competitions in which it was permitted to enter, and its reputation finally reached the ears of the State military authorities, with the result that in 1875 its ability was recognized to the extent of its being chosen as official band of the North archery club.

Two years after his enlistment in the militia, the railroad strike riot occurred in Pittsburg, and the band was ordered to report for duty. The experience was one of the most interesting and exciting during their term of enlistment, and clashes between strikers and strikebreakers, which the soldiers were called upon to quell, is still vivid in the memories of the sur-

In 1879 a general depression of business occurred in this section and many of the charter members of the band left Connellsville, emigrating to other parts of the country. This had a tendency to disorganize the organization, and younger blood filled up the ranks thus made vacant. New hands took charge of the band in 1880, and it then left the Tenth regiment.

ment, remaining a private organization until a few years ago, as the Connelville Military Band. It re-entered the Tenth, but a split occurred recently, and two organizations are now maintained.

None of the musical aggregations in this region made a more attractive appearance when on parade than did the old silver cornets. Attired in their uniforms and carrying their

Among the notable events at which the band was in attendance was the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876 and the inauguration of Governor Hoyt in 1878. At both celebrations, it participated in the parades and was accorded much favorable comment.

Members of the band in the early days included Charles Carrington, James Harp, Byron Porter, Edward Clise, George Witter, Charles H. Whately, Daniel C. Hood, George B. Brown, A. A. Wetherell, W. H. Snares, Charles L. Gray, Dr. George E. Connell, Albert Murray, William Bulger, Charles Hart, Richard Hoopes, Newton Porter, Christopher Burgoon, and Mary Rogers.

Two Boys Arrested.
Two foreign boys were arrested yesterday afternoon for fighting in the Baltimore & Ohio yards. The arrests were made by Thomas C. Phalin, who marched the youngsters to City Hall. There they were given a lecture by Chief of Police George Hetzel and discharged.

Girl Will Recover.
No new patients were admitted to the Cottage State hospital over night. The condition of Mary O'Bryon who took poison yesterday afternoon at the home of Harry Hetzel in the West Side is improved. Her condition is not considered serious.

SOCIETY.

Ald Society Meets.
The semi-monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Arthur Shaw on Murphy avenue. The attendance was unusually large and the meeting was one of interest. Following the business meeting a delightful musical program was rendered by Misses Harold Dill and Charles Davis, and Miss May McSheehy of Denver, Col. Refreshments were served. Mrs. E. J. Howser of Hamilton, Canada, was a guest of the society.

Missionary Society to Meet.
The Trinity Reformed church will meet next Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Smith in East Main street, P. O. M. Class Meets.

The Revs. W. H. Glendon, A. R. Pearson and Christian Sturm were made honorary members at the monthly meeting of the P. O. M. Class of the Methodist Protestant Sunday school held last evening at the home of William Sticker in Greenwood. Twenty members were present. A social session and refreshments followed the business meeting.

Birthday Party.
Mrs. O. W. Kaufman entertained a number of her friends last evening at her home in Tenth street in honor of her birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent at cards and games. Dainty refreshments were served.

Teachers and Officers Banqueted.
The teachers and officers of the First Baptist Sunday school were banqueted last evening in the church by the King's Workers composed of young women of the church. Mrs. A. C. Herbert is teacher of the class. It has been decided that hereafter each class of the Sunday school is expected to banquet the teachers and officers and the King's Workers gave the first banquet. A similar affair will be considered at least once a month. One long table was arranged in the parlor room and was attractively decorated. Appointments significant of St. Patrick's Day were noted on a most charming manner. Vases of narcissus and carnations formed the floral decorations. The candlesticks were capped with green shades and the place cards were dainty affairs adorned with a shamrock. Moulded in the ice cream was a shamrock. The banquet was served by the young ladies in excellent style and was greatly enjoyed by the honor guests The Rev. J. Wilbur Nelson and A. R. Boyer were the principal speakers of the evening. Plans were rendered by Miss Grace Workman. Mrs. Agnes Perry had charge of the dining room and Miss M. Tennant was in charge down stairs.

Meeting at Bridge Wildet.
Mrs. Warren in White was hostess at the regular meeting of the Friday Afternoon Bridge Club yesterday afternoon at her home in South Pittsburgh. The tables were elegantly set and the evening was a most enjoyable one. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Evening at Mather Work.
The West Side Needleworkers were pleasantly entertained Thursday evening by Mrs. Richard Sherrock at her home in Greenwood. Fancy work was the amusement of the evening. A dainty luncheon was served.

Gifts Sent to Save Girl.
Miss Mary Kate O'Brien, formerly of Uniontown, and now a reporter on the Pittsburgh Post and Sun, is recovering from pneumonia in the homeopathic hospital, Pittsburgh. It is thought her condition was made more serious by the recent act of Miss O'Brien, in giving a child from one of her arms to a little girl who was badly bitten.

Turtle is a Reptile.
A traveling man who had a turtle in his satchel was arrested in Greensburg and arraigned before Squire Hunter charged with cruelty to animals. The Squire decided that the turtle was a reptile, not an animal, and discharged the defendant.

Notice to Gas Consumers.
The Connelley Gas Company announces that they will occupy their new office, 202 South Pittsburgh street, Monday morning on February 25, where all bills hereafter will be payable.—Adv.

Dawson Muller's Reception.
Our Commandery No. 330, Knights of Malta, of Dawson, will hold a public invitation and supper Monday evening in the Dawson Opera House.

IN NAVY BLUE AND ROSE.

Entirely new is the effect of this dress. The closing is made with large pearl buttons and extends around the figure to the back panel of the skirt, with a slight draping of the skirt below in the back.

The revers, collar, cuffs and button-hole bindings are of soft rose cloth. The small ornamental buttons and loops are made of gold braid, and a black satin tie is worn.

KOBACKERS LOOSE.

Drop Two Out of Three Games to Wright-Metzlers.

The Wright-Metzer team lost the first game to Kobackers but came back strong by taking the next two on the Temple alley last night. The score:

MONEY TRUST PROHIBIT.

Washington Believes Investigation Will Now Be Dropped.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The Money Trust investigation is closed. This is the opinion expressed this morning by Congressmen who have followed closely the workings of the Pulo Committee. They predict that the work of emergency reform along the lines of the recommendations of the committee will be taken up under President Wilson, with Representative Glass in charge.

Representative Glass was a member of the Pulo Committee, and has been active in an effort to remedy the currency system.

Lawsuit Is Settled.
The $20,000 claim of Mrs. Sarah C. Mair and her six children against the Liggett Valley railroad for the death of Thomas Mair in the Wilpen wreck, has been settled for $8,000.

Home to Cumberland.
Ethel Pearl Davis and Harry Gold on Lehman both of Uniontown, were married in Cumberland yesterday.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

100 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with phosphate powder:

68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.

DAWSON ENTERTAINMENT

Debate Over Mexican Situation Ends in Favor of Intervention.

That the United States should intervene in the Mexican situation was debated last evening at the second of a series of evening discussions given in the Cooper Memorial Church at Dawson under the auspices of the Epworth League. The debaters were affirmative Dr. H. J. Bell and the Rev. H. A. Baum, and negative, Dr. C. E. K. Smith and Prof. Grossman. The judges, N. A. Rist, S. J. J. Youngster and Mr. VanHorn gave their decision in favor of the affirmative.

The remainder of the program was as follows: "Song, 'America';" recitation, "The Missionary Home," Gertrude O'Connor; song, "I Love Love Me," Japanese; Mary Crawford, recitation, "A Boy's Town," Leslie Hildon; vocal duet, Gertrude O'Connor and Grace Schuler; recitation, "Willie's Trouble," Scott Whitley; recitation, "The Mountain Vell," Elizabeth Crawford; Japanese Drill, by six girls; reading, "Elegia Warrumb," William Brower; recitation, "Lullaby," Grace Sprout; vocal solo, "Sing Me to Sleep," Gertrude O'Connor; recitation, "The Dead Dancer," Marion P. Jones; recitation, "The Johnsons," Joe Ingham; song drill by 12 girls; piano duet, "Under the Mistletoe," Marjorie Hallum and Mary Bell Gelliey.

Is Operated On.
Mrs. James Colborn of Greensburg and formerly of Connelville, underwent an operation at the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, yesterday. Word received yesterday from the hospital stated she was resting easily. Mrs. Colborn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stauffer of the West Side.

Card of Thanks.
Mrs. John McIntyre, Sr., and family of Leaning No. 1, desires to thank their many friends who so kindly aided and comforted them during the death of their husband and father. Especially do they desire to thank those who sent floral tributes.—Adv.

COAL AND ELECTRICITY.

The growing use of electricity as a power has raised the question whether it will not eventually supplant steam. Whether it does or not, it is safe to say that coal will remain the country's fuel. Electrical energy may be generated by water power. It is true, but desirable data sites are limited. Concerning this question the Fuel Magazine says:

"There is perhaps no industry that has a more certain future than coal mining. It might almost be said that the possibilities arising from the human race, were the present source of fuel supply to be suddenly interrupted. There would, of course, ultimately be some sort of adjustment to new conditions, but the longest look ahead at present can discern nothing that does not call for an increased output of coal."

"However, there will be changes and modifications of the old order of things. And one of the modifications, which seems destined to rise into more commanding influence, is the increased use of electrical power. In its development both coal and water power will be utilized. The next ten years will witness some almost revolutionary progress in that respect. A decade hence electrical power will be developed in large quantities for transmission to distant centers of consumption."

The cheap transmission of electric power has encouraged the installation of electric plants at the mines where they have been operated in successful competition with hydro-electric plants. The latter involve a large initial investment the interest charge on which in a great measure offsets the cheaper cost of operation. Coal is here to stay and the longer it stays the more valuable it is bound to become. This fact is more generally recognized now than ever before, hence the increasing investment in proven coal lands.

NEIGHBOURHOODS.

The Conneltsville News "wants it understood that if the editor of The Courier is thinking of heading back into the Democratic party, 'The News' is unalterably against the editor for postmaster."

The Uniontown Herald takes up the refrain and with characteristic logic wants to bet that the editor of The Courier, publicly referred to as "the old geezer," is "getting ready to flop back."

In view of the fact that the editor of The Courier never applied for and never held any office of profit in or under any political party, these remarks are, in any case, not very brilliant. Neither The Courier nor its editor are likely to identify themselves with the Democratic party through political action, or in pursuit of political office or emolument, or to please or displease satisfied or dissatisfied contemporaries. The Courier never had to advertise its politics; they were always positive enough to be identified without a label.

Perhaps the title of The News is intended to cover its entire newspaper business over the Conneltsville postoffice appointment. It is a matter of common rumor that one of its proprietors and directing editor is an active and aggressive candidate for the place, and that he does not have plain sailing. In fact, The News seems to have a number of "chests" to pull out of the fire for the benefit of its readers, and perhaps its nervousness is entitled to kinship consideration.

The Courier regrets its inability to please all of its contemporaries all of the time and it hopes the boys will accept to borrow trouble on its account.

A CABLE.

The Government will soon pass into the hands of Democratic administration pledged to some radical changes in policy. These changes threaten the prosperity of the country and the welfare of all its people in order to punish a large number of the same people who voted for them. These victims of political unrest should read the facts about the members of the House who rebelled against the stomach, stomach.

"Why should we be perpetually engaged in administering to your wants, while you do nothing but take your rest and enjoy yourself in luxury and self-indulgence?"

The strike resulted in a complete tie-up of the system. The pampered stomach got to food and gave forth no nourishment. Strength fell from the limbs, the body became debilitated, decay set in and when it was too late the rebellious members realized the suicidal character of their insurrection.

The political interests who seem to think that their future salvation depends upon ruining the banks and closing the mills in order to punish capital, had better read old Deep again.

A LIVE TOWN.

Investments in Conneltsville real estate by Uniontown and Westmoreland capitalists are becoming popular. It is true that coal lands in Greene county, Pennsylvania, and Marshall county, West Virginia, figure extensively in these deals at good prices, but even more liberal prices have been paid for Conneltsville real estate taken in exchange. Somerset county capital has recently made some investment here, but the consideration has been cash, and the prices have been such as indicate that Conneltsville is going forward more rapidly than some of its observing citizens realize or its critical neighbors like to admit.

The Conneltsville News accuses us of "subterfuge." We will stand for a certain amount of that soft stuff, but if we are ever accused of "duplicitous" we shudder to contemplate the consequences.

The Parcel Post is expanding rapidly. It is preparing to put on C. O. D. and Special Delivery features. With these additions the Parcel Post will have the express companies outclassed in the transportation of small packages. The express business has probably seen its best days. It cannot combine, because that would be contrary to the Sherman law. If Government competition becomes too severe, the express business will have to be absorbed by the railroads. It is rather hard to understand why it was not taken over by the railroads long ago.

The lurid rumors which seem to be let loose with every Baltimore & Ohio railroad wreck are the worst part about the wreck.

The community is threatened with Snyder street again.

The editor of the Uniontown Herald refuses the title of Colonel, which he says The Courier sought to impose upon him, and declares that he will be satisfied with nothing less than General. The Courier referred to Colonel Joe Thompson of the Conneltsville News. Colonels are mostly Democrats, and just now for obvious reasons there are no Colonels but Democrats and they are all in the saddle. Editor O'Donnell is hard to please. He declines to be called Colonel; he becomes violent when called Moses; and he sedulously conceals his real name, which is Dennis.

March came in dubiously and will perhaps go out doubtfully. The March superstition is losing prestige. The month too often comes in like a lion and goes out like a lion.

The Greensburg district miner who brings suit against the operating company employing him for damages received from the kick of an "unsafe" mule, raises a stubborn question. Much of the equipment of industrial operations is only relatively unsafe. The courts will probably rule that under the law of Safety First responsibility does not end with the employer, and that it's up to the employee to keep away from the front of moving trains and the rear of kicking mules.

The Suffragette Army has mutinied. Both Washington and Revolution are in sight.

The Democratic fight over the spots of office has already begun, and if the preliminary skirmishes are any indication Democratic harmony is due to be Mexicanized in a very brief period of time. Woodrow will have more than Congress on his hands.

The Conneltsville theatrical season promises to make a record dash.

The inauguration exodus has begun. It will be a great show. It is the first Democratic opening in some years. The crowd will be larger than ever; the attractions, if not more numerous, will be newer and more startling; and, if current reports are true, the Suffragette expedition alone will be worth the price of admission.

Cigarettes were the chief spoil of Conneltsville's most recent robbery. The fact is sadly significant.

The war of the farmers upon oleomargarine is never-ending and uncompromising. The public sympathies with the farmers just far enough to approve all legislation necessary to prevent the sale of oleomargarine for butter, but no further; in other words, the consumer reserves the right to buy butter or oleomargarine at his pleasure, and he desires that his accredited agents in the Legislature shall preserve the competition between them unimpeded.

Matthews seems to have been on the make.

The Boy Scouts of Conneltsville ought to get the Duhner professional to give them an occasional pass.

There is a disposition at Harrisburg to revolt against Legislative-Committee rule. When the Commission plan is successfully applied to all branches of government, the question of the "Commissioners' commission" may be expected to come up.

Governor Bill Butler is still turning the screws out. If we remember correctly, the previous State administration was Democratic. Certainly, Governor, turn the Democratic screws out.

The right of the Governor of West Virginia to declare martial law has been affirmed again. There never was much doubt about it since West Virginia became a State.

Why You Should

Read These Talks

Every Day

By John P. Fallon.

They were started four months ago in one newspaper which is purchased by 122,000 people every day. Now they appear simultaneously in nearly four hundred and fifty daily newspapers which are read by more than twenty million people every day.

The purpose of these talks is to show you the importance, the value, and the economy of reading advertisements. They will convince you of the superiority of advertised goods and the reliability of merchants and manufacturers who advertise continuously and persistently.

It will be to your interest to read each of these daily talks every day this month and profit by the information and suggestions they will contain. Read the advertisements in THE COURIER tonight and every night for the latest merchandise news and for the money-saving opportunities they feature.

THIS ACTUALLY HAPPENS

Senator Barkhead has secured a $100,000 federal building for Jasper, Ala., population 300, and Senator Warren has landed a $75,000 building for Basin, Wyoming, with no population worth mentioning.

SCOTSDALE GIRLS PURSUE AND RUN A WILD DUCK DOWN

Two Beautiful and Athletic Young Women Engage in a Novel Race

WHILE WAITING FOR STREET CAR

Credit to Whom Credit is Due for Men of Large Leg Laying Men
Meetings of Sunday include Dr. Edward A. Steiner as a speaker.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, March 1.—Passengers on a West Penn street car entering to Scottdale saw two beautiful and athletic young women of the Iron Bridge neighborhood pursue and run down a wild duck. The duck made a valiant and plucky race for liberty, but having a wounded wing and unable to rise in flight the young ladies proved the better runners and captured the fowl. The young ladies were Misses E. A. Steiner and Edith well and favorably known in Scottdale, graceful and strong and believe-ers in exercise. The young ladies saw the duck as they were waiting the coming of the car, and took pursuit of it, the duck making a swift run but being too slow for the girls. The duck was handed over to Milton Pitts at the Scottdale store and the girls, with sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks, delightfully boarded the car to come to Scottdale, filling the passengers with admiration for their pluck and grace. The duck was probably one of a flock flying northward and headed for the Bridgeport dams where the water fowl gather at this season of the year.

In the nature story of yesterday
the type made the name of Shaffer appear as Stauffer. It was Councilman and Mrs. W. Stauffer who own the wonder working hen that laid the large egg. Credit to whom credit is due impels this correction, as the hen of no Mr. Stauffer have been heard from as indicating or noteworthy in the respect of large egg production as noted yesterday.

CHRISTMAS CLUB.
The First National Bank will open a Christmas Club on the 17th of this month, the savings plan that has made such a name wherever tried.

MEETINGS WEDNESDAY.
Increasing interest marks the evening services at the Methodist Episcopal Church, although there seems a lack of a good many members in taking part, although their places are often filled with Christian workers who come from other denominations to aid in the campaign.
Rev. J. C. Brown of Freehold, N. J., who has been a great worker during the last two weeks, now returns to his own pulpit. The sermon subject of the Rev. J. C. Brown, Sunday morning, will be "The Christian Example" and in the evening "The Towers of Salvation." The services will continue throughout the week, opening on Monday evening with a sermon by Rev. H. D. Whitfield of Greensburg.

DR. STEINER.
Dr. Edward A. Steiner, traveler, lecturer, author, head of the Department of Applied Science, and an expert on the day will speak at the United Brethren Church on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. Steiner comes here as the guest of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture committee.
There will be no admission charged but a silver offering will be taken up.

A number of Scottdale automobile enthusiasts are planning to go to Detroit next week to the big show, that one of the auto manufacturing companies will hold there.

FOR SALE.
Ed. L. Rose will hold his twelfth annual horse sale at his home, two miles west of Mount Pleasant, beginning at noon Wednesday, March 12.
Twenty-five head of draft mares and colts, aged three to six years, weighing 1200 to 1600 pounds will be sold. Six months credit or three per cent. for cash.—Adv.

Prince Ernst August and Princess Princess Victoria Louise Will Wed

BERLIN, March 1.—The marriage of Prince Ernst August and Princess Victoria Louise, the only daughter of Kaiser Wilhelm, will end the disagreement that has existed for years between the houses of Hohenzollern and Hanover. The father of the young prince never acquiesced in the abolition of his throne, though he was offered a dukedom. It now seems likely that the young prince will become the Duke of Brunswick on or soon after his marriage to the handsome and popular princess.

and Christina Sinkula were in Con-nelville visiting friends a few days ago.

Mrs. H. Stang and baby have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hixson.

Miss Lillian Bergstrom was a visitor to Greensburg.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Anderson celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Claus Carlson was visiting friends in Greensburg on Sunday.

Mrs. John Warlick has been visiting friends at Greensburg for several days.

Mrs. Fred O. Moser was visiting in Pittsburg.

MT. PLEASANT.
Mrs. M. Pleasant, March 1.—Mrs.
Steiner entertained her fellow members of the Thimble Club at her home on Church street Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Samuel H. McCormick and Mrs. E. Harry Work have returned to their Pittsburg homes after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Handley.

Miss Kelly of the 11th Cavalry,
U. S. A., is visiting her father, Michael Kelly, at the Central Hotel.

Miss Helen Armstrong of Williamsburg is the guest of Mrs. Frank Stevens of Centre avenue.

Miss Pauline Harvey of Latrobe is spending the week end with Miss Gertrude Jordan of College avenue.

Mrs. Smith Albright of Ohio is visiting her sister, Mrs. Pike, of Bridgeport street.

Word has been received by the persons in charge of the men's meeting to be held in the Re-Union Presbyterian Church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, that the speaker, Atter-ton, will bring with him the male quartet of Uniontown.

The festival services of the Church of God will close on Sunday, when morning services will be held at 10:30.
The meeting for women only will be held at 2:30 in the afternoon at the East End mission, with Sunday school at 2 o'clock and evening services at 7 o'clock. The meetings have resulted in more than fifty conversions.

A number of the old directors of the Fraternal baseball league were present at the meeting held at the Rader Inn last evening. Mr. J. McCloy acted as president and John Nixon as secretary. The old teams, the Odd Fellows, Moose, Knights of Pythias,
Red Men, Patriotic Sons of America,
C. S. Echeverria, Misses Mary Baker,
Mabel Baker, Lillian Hebenstall, Sarah Walsh, Sadie Little, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Boyer, C. E. Kleinbrook
and H. L. Hebenstall.

The independent basketball team defeated Jeannette at the State Armory last evening a rough but exciting game by a score of 18 to 19.
One of the largest crowds that have attended this season was present.

STAUFFER.
STAUFFER, Feb. 23.—The Bridgeport Literary Society has been holding some excellent meetings. The affairs are in the hands of a very capable program committee.

William Lopez has taken a journey to Rainey, where he expects to take a position with the Rainey company.
The ducks are flying northward and the pop of guns near the Bridgeport dam is frequently heard.

J. Harry Freed of Pennsylvania, was in town on business today.

Dr. J. Marcus Jackson of Mill Run, is here for a few days visiting his brother-in-law, J. J. McCloy.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the O.
of T. A. met at the home of Mrs. C. E.
Kleinbrook to enjoy the evening.
The most enjoyable time followed.
The hostess served a delightful lunch

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN TORE HER CLOTHES

Testifies She Was Restored
to Health by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Malone, N. Y. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has certainly done me a lot of good. I first heard of it when I was a girl and I always said that if I ever had female trouble I would take it."

"I suffered from organic inflammation and would have spells when I would be in such pain that I would tear my clothes. One day my husband got the neighbors in to see what the matter was but they could not help me. My first thought was for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sent my husband out for it and took it until I was entirely cured. I am a woman of perfect health and my health and happiness came from Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. You may rest assured that I do all I can to recommend your wonderful medicine to my friends."—Mrs. FRED STONE, Route No. 3, Malone, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down
feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

Much Spring News of Importance Today!

The store is a big receiving house these days. New Spring things are arriving in great numbers—and there's a freshness about all sections that you'll be glad to breathe in and enjoy.

Spring's not here, officially; but, we're ahead of the times with lots of new wear-things and home-adorn—everything fine and in good taste—and every solitary thing fully up to the more. Come—look.

The New Spring Suits Are Here

And We Are Proud Indeed of Our Extensive Showing.

Carefully chosen assortments, notable for variety and superiority. Charming models, fresh from the hands of the master designers, among them the very latest in the ultra smart Bulgarian blouse effects, Norfolk and Cutaways.

Moreover, on almost every suit will be found some smart distinctive touch—the skirt conforming. Materials are more than usually excellent, both in color and weave, while the workmanship, as always, is of the best.

Women's Spring Coats

The new and critically correct styles that express all of those exclusive and fashionable ideas which smart dressers admire—handsomely tailored, high grade fabrics that conform to real style requirements of the day.

All the new fashionable models in ratine, whip-cords, serges, fancy mixtures, coverts and Bedford cords. Fancy coats for afternoon and evening wear, plainer models for street wear.

Rich and handsome linings of contrasting shades —trimmings of silk, satin, oponge, brad and colored embroidery.

The Reign of High Prices on Wall Paper Has Ended

Compliments in the shape of substantial orders for paper and papering are rapidly proving the fact that my prices are without parallel downward.

We have placed ourselves to the fore-front in this line of business and are determined to stay there.
Having the necessary means (low prices) we have set about to accomplish this end—(The leading Wall Paper house of this community.) If you need wall paper, my display room will merit a visit from you.
Courteous treatment and a fine display of goods will be accorded you.

The Ten Per Cent. Guarantee Stock

will soon be withdrawn. Get busy. Now or never!
Four per cent. in the bank will on $100.00 mean $4.00 at the end of one year. Ten per cent. on $100.00 worth of stock in one year means $10.00, and the value of stock $150.00 or more. We need but a small amount of money to make a Big Winner out of A Winner.

Why do we sell stock in this vicinity? Why, because we want as many local people interested in the business as we can get. They will all be pluggers for the company.

Better drop in to-day or write and have me call to see you before this offer is withdrawn.

PROGRAM EXTENDS OVER A WEEK

Contractor is putting the finishing touches to the structure and the Pastor, the Rev. S. L. Postlewaite, has arranged a list of services.

THE REV. S. L. POSTLEWATE.

MT. PLEASANT, Feb. 24.—Work is being rapidly completed on the new United Brethren Church by Contractor J. E. Fox and when completed and dedicated on Sunday, March 16, will be a church that the congregation and pastor, the Rev. S. L. Postlewaite, will be proud of. The church is built of brick and has the town clock in the tower on the corner of Main street and College avenue.

The main auditorium entrance is from Main street. The interior is beautiful. The oil painting on the walls is in harmony with the colored glass in the dome. This is one of the features of the building. The pews and pulpit furniture are about the Gothic line. The balcony will be fitted with no less than 12 chairs. Directly behind the pulpit will be the choir and behind this the organ, which is a Moir with three registers and when complete will cost $5,000. To the left of the pulpit is the baptistry and to the right is the entrance from the Sunday School and basement rooms.

The entrance to the Sunday School room is from College avenue. The Sunday School room will have 12 individual class rooms and is double-decked. The rooms are separated by heavy curtains; also there is a raised platform for the orchestra. From the Sunday School room is the entrance to the pastor's office and the choir room. In the basement is the stables and coal room, and there is the furnace and boiler room. The gymnasium to be used by the Men's Bible class.

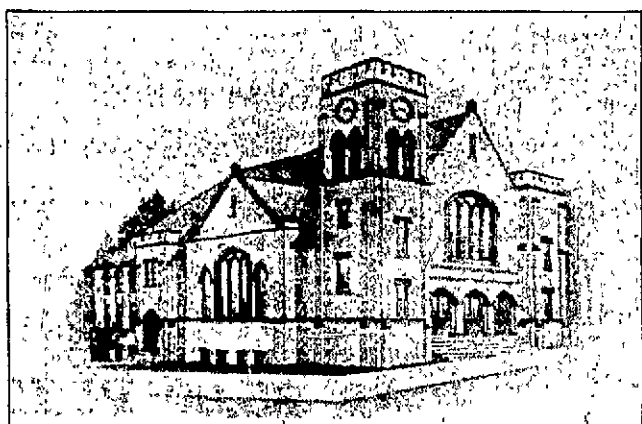

The kitchen and serving room or pantry and the billiard room, part of which has been divided off for a room for the primary department. The basement also has an entrance from College avenue.

The program for the morning services on dedication day will be Organ prelude, anthem, invocation, hymn, Scripture lesson, prayer, announcements, offering, hymn, sermon, prayer, hymn, benediction and organ postlude. The afternoon services will include address and the evening service will include the dedicatory ceremony.

The following week will be the post-dedication week with this program: Monday, 7:30 P. M. to 9:30 P. M. Open house for the town and vicinity of Mount Pleasant. The evening is in charge of the Ladies' Aid and Y. P. C. U. societies. There will be an orchestra and refreshments.

Tuesday night, 7:30 P. M. Open house for the church membership and friends a family gathering in charge of the local W. M. A. and young ladies of the church. Sermon by Dr. Resler of McKeesport.

Wednesday 7:30 P. M. Remembrance and campfire service. Sermon

NEW UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH AT MOUNT PLEASANT.

Contractor J. E. Fox is rapidly completing this fine edifice, which is to be dedicated on Sunday, March 16 with interesting services. The church is one of the finest in this section.

by Dr. Kolster. Thursday, 8 P. M. Social service in charge of the Brotherhood and Men's Bible class. Orchestra and refreshments. Friday, 8 P. M. Organ recital under the direction of the Ladies' Aid and rendered by Prof. Charles N. Boyd of Pittsburgh, assisted by Miss Leona Marsh, Mrs. M. E. Shupe and Miss Clara Burkholder.

Enter Sunday all services will be in charge of the pastor. There will be baptismal services and reception of members. Also very good music.

had permanent possession of that land. Time and again other nations held it. Now for centuries it has belonged to Turkey.

The Jews have no right to that land except through this great Oath-bound Covenant made to Abraham. How foolish, therefore, do those intellectual Jews appear who disclaim Abraham as mythical, but who, nevertheless, claim the Land of Israel. It will never belong to any except those who hold to the Promise. —Romans 4:13-14.

Abraham's Three Wives Typical. While Abraham and his wives were real personages, their affairs were so supervised by God that they became types. Abraham typified God; Isaac, the Messiah; and Rebecca, the Church, Messiah's Joint-heir in the Kingdom. —Galatians 3:20.

Abraham's wives were types of God's three great Covenants, through which His blessing will come. St. Paul explains that, as Sarah was barren, so the chief Covenant was barren—until Jesus came. Meantime, Hagar became representative of the wife, and attempted to bring forth the heir of Promise, but failed. St. Paul declares that in this Hagar typified the Law Covenant, which failed to bring forth the real Seed of Abraham, competent to bless all the families of the earth—Galatians 4:22-31.

As Hagar was a bondswoman, she typified the bondage of the Law Covenant; and Ishmael, Ishmaelism points out, typified Israel after the flesh. As Isaac, the true heir, brought forth the promised son, so St. Paul explains, God's original Covenant in due time brought forth the true Heir, Jesus, —Messiah.

Abraham's All Given to Isaac. In the type Abraham gave all that he had to Isaac, through him making provision for Ishmael and for Keturah's children. In the antitype God bestows all His fullness upon Christ, the Messiah, and through Him makes provision for the natural Israelites and all mankind.

Ishmael and Sarah were types of the Law Covenant and our Covenant of the Gospel Age. Abraham's third wife, Keturah, taken after Sarah's death, typified the New Covenant, which the Bible declares will be inaugurated at the close of this Gospel Age. Under that New Covenant, the Spiritual Seed of Abraham, the Christ, will bless all the families of the earth during the thousand years of the Messianic reign. Such is the length, the breadth, the height and the depth of God's Love for humanity, and His provision for their future!

As the Stars and as the Sands. Only of late have Bible Students discerned that Abraham is to have two seeds, exclusive of the Ishmaelites of the Law, or Hagar, Covenant. "Thy seed shall be as the stars of heaven and as the sands of the seashore." The stars fully picture to us a glorified Christ and His Church, His Bride, changed from earthly to heavenly conditions—the Spiritual Seed of Abraham.

These St. Paul refers in Galatians 3:29 and 1 Corinthians 15:41, 42.

God's Oath to Abraham. Professor Doulos has aptly pointed out that the procedure of dividing an animal and passing between the two parts was an ancient form of oath. Thus God adopted the strongest possible symbolism for assuring Abraham and his posterity that the Abrahamic Covenant will never be broken.

St. Stephen noted that the Abrahamic Promise had not been fulfilled in Apostolic times, even though Israel possessed Canaan for centuries. Abraham never owned a foot of it (Acts 7:5-6). St. Stephen's reasoning is that after Messiah sets up His Kingdom, Abraham will come forth to inherit the land and to bestow it upon his posterity. But the antitype—the whole earth—will be the Land of Promise to all who shall return to harmony with God.

"We are elected to go at once and have a few bites of lunch before you pass on to your machine. She hung up the receiver on me before I got a chance to consult you about it. So I suppose we might as well be on our way," he bargained down his desk, put on his hat and left the office.

Doris met them at the door frankly pleased to see them, wonderfully tempting in her soft morning gown that floated about her light as a summer cloud. Exceedingly dainty and pretty she was, but Alan was quick to notice the faint, dark hint circles that underlined her eyes and which bespoke another night of ill rest. She led them directly to the light dining room with its plain, solid oak furniture, and seated them at the table at once. "I was afraid that Mr. North might be impatient to get back to his machine, so I thought we would have our luncheon first and our chat afterwards that he might not feel that I was delaying matters. I realize that he feels that he should be prepared to leave upon a minute's notice at all times. Anyway we can talk more or less as we nibble. Do you know?" she turned the tea with a wistful smile and altogether fascinating that they watched it as it spilled out.

"That I imagine I feel somewhat as the southern women did during our Civil war when their men folk were marching away to defend their homes? All houses were open to the soldiers then, and while the gentlemen of the air are here risking your lives for our protection, we women should be happy to do everything in our power to make your stay as pleasant as possible. I want you to come straight here whenever you feel inclined and bring any friends you may wish to with you. Now tell me about the chase." North laughed heartily.

"There isn't anything in particular to tell except that the creature we were after and myself sat it out together all night. He attacked his sandwich reluctantly."

"And what happened?" breathed the girl.

"I suppose I might as well tell the story at once and be through with it. You saw the first part of the chase when he led us around that big loop to see what kind of stuff was in us, so I need not go into that. It was just the same thing all the way around, anyway. Of course when that mortar sent him pinwheeling through the air we felt considerably encouraged, but he wasn't hurt a bit and kept on as fast as before, keeping his distance ahead of us almost to a rod and leaving us as much in doubt as ever as to whether he was doing his best or just dillying with us. Just as we got over the mountain some of the boys got discouraged and opened fire on him—you should have heard those peep echoes come back at us. It was so far ahead that it was merely waiting ammunition to shoot, yet there was a bare chance of hitting him so the rest of us cut loose in order if somebody happened to drop him we could all have a claim on the reward, since nobody would be able to swear which bullet did the work. Of course we did not get him, so we kept on with the chase. It got dark pretty soon after that, and for a while we had a hard time keeping him in sight, but presently the moon arose and that gave us light enough for all practical purposes. It certainly was an eerie sight to see that old bat-winged party ahead scudding through the moonlight like one of those funny things you sometimes dream about after a rabbit. For the first time in my life the creeps came along my back—felt like frozen footed caterpillars were crawling up and down me. Presently I looked around and saw that the rest of the fellows had turned back, but I thought I would go on for a little while longer just on a bare chance. So I did."

"It was altogether too reckless and I hope you will not take such a chance again," broke out the girl impatiently. North seized the opportunity to finish his sandwich.

"Well, perhaps so, but I certainly do need a good slice of that million. And I figured it that they having abandoned the chase for the night and turned him over to me, if I happened to be lucky enough to land him the larger portion if not all of the reward would be mine. So I kept on. The moon kept getting brighter as it grew darker and for half an hour more I coasted the Dragon along by every trick I knew. It certainly was some sight when I looked down upon those mountain tops that we were skimming over. Never saw such grotesque shapes and shadows as those jambed rock piles and sandstone and gneiss and gneiss pinnacles—while as for the canyons and valleys—well, some of them were moonlight bathed and I was willing to swear that I saw witches riding about on their broomsticks and gnomes dancing, although I suppose, of course, they were nothing but flying shadows. Others were as black as the mouth of the Pit itself, while ahead of me and always keeping his distance with infernal endurance was the most uncanny phantom of them all—the very spirit of the night. He stopped speaking to sip at his tea

WATCH FOR THAT WEAK SPOT

A Cough or Cold Hits It Every Time.

It May Bring on Tuberculosis; Fortify Yourself by Using Bear's Emulsion.

How are we to keep from getting consumption if our lungs are weak? By taking good care of yourself. Never let your system get in a run-down weak, nervous condition. Never let a cough linger on from day to day no matter how little it may bother you. Try to get rid of getting a cold and allowing it to attack one spot every time on a little exposure. Get a remedy that will build up that spot, strengthen it and make it as strong as any other part of the body. The tuberculosis germ only attacks the weak places and if we have no weak spots the germ is thrown out of the body again. Bear's Emulsion sold by A. A. Clarke and Graham & Co., Connellsville; Harry McGilchrist, Dunbar; Leading Druggist, Scotland, Pa. It is recommended to build up the system and lungs so as to fortify against this germ. And as I have read so many testimonials from different people at Rockingham County I believe this remedy is one of the best for a run-down system and weak lungs.—Advertisement.

treason and we will be quite comfortable in the open. And now I had better be getting back to the field so as to be on hand in case he shows up again unexpectedly, as he seems to have a habit of doing. Thanks exceedingly for the luncheon, and I'll tell you about Clare some other time. She is a wonder. Marching past down the hall with him and the girl, I was hoping that Doris by some sign might signify that he should remain, but at the door she bade them both good-bye with no sign given, so there was nothing for him to do but bid her good afternoon also. Somewhat disappointed, he strode away by the side of the actively moving hero of the lone moonlight chase.

The week which followed was one of fruitless activity. From the moment when North had caught his last fleeting glimpse of the Flying Man disappearing into the southwest in the rays of the early morning sun, nothing had been heard or seen of him. Day by day the scouting air fleets ranged the mountain tops, whirled past precipitous cliffs, swooped down into valleys and gulches, alighted upon points of vantage that they might scan their heights, but no powerful glasses, but all their efforts remained unrewarded. Either he was in close hiding somewhere amongst the recesses of those vast fastnesses, had met with some disaster remote from the abode of man or had taken himself far afield to haunts where his life was in some degree less than the swift air crafts of his relentless hunters. Day by day the impatience of the eager aviators grew more and more chafing, and nothing but the colossal size of the reward prevented many from returning to fields which offered more certain if less dazzling prizes. But the immensity of the fortune that dangled before their eyes still held them, and they remained to scour the country day after day in wide flights that each time grew more and more perfunctory. Then one morning, when some of them were actually preparing to leave for good, news came that caused them to prick up their ears a bit and decide to hold on a while longer, for from Quartzville, two hundred miles away, came the report that a citizen had seen roosting upon a far distant crag a strange, winged figure, half manlike, half birdlike, but whether it was the Flying Man or not the observer was not able to positively testify because of the great distance, although he was strongly inclined to the belief that it was no bird. Then from Lode City, not far from Quartzville, there also came a rumor. An old man awakened at night by the squealing of his pig had lighted a lantern and, gun in hand, hastened to the pen with the thought that some wild creature of the mountains had descended in search of fresh meat, only to find the sty empty and no trace of the missing porker, yet a moment later he was sure he heard a faint squeal from far up in the air. From another place came the news that a belated traveler had heard a raucous cry from above and in a great fright threw himself behind a rock, from which, a moment afterwards, he heard through the darkness the whistle of powerful wings. But so unsatisfactory were the different rumors, so vague, and emanating from so many different quarters that the awaiting ones soon began to accord them but little credence, a little later ceasing to place any confidence in them whatever. Then after several of the aviators had actually departed in disgust there came a seething message from the two hundred miles to the westward, so full of horrible details that none who read even the expurgated report of the papers could doubt but that the Flying Man had again been located and had once more shed human blood, this time with a headlessness of which he had heretofore been only suspected as being capable. The victim this time was a middle-aged negro woman who lived with her husband in a lonely place two miles beyond the town, the principal narrator being the negro himself, a rather simple minded and peaceable man of good repute, who made his living by doing odd jobs in his vicinity. His report of the occurrence as taken in shorthand by a newspaper reporter and after having been expurgated, read as follows:

"I done lef' de house early in de mornin' fo' to done some wuk to Mizah Lewis, who am buildin' a fence ovah on his place about two mile away. I done got finish' at foah er'clock and starts fo' home. When I gets up close to de house I done notice dar' somethin' dat ain't jes' right, fo' dar ain't no noise inside. Alters when I comes home befo' I on hear dat woman o' mine er' moakin' 'er racket, a singin' or whistlin' or stamm'n' dum' dis about lak she were gwine bust 'em up, but dis time I am so still I could hear my haht er' beatin' lak a drum. I stan' dar fo' er' minit a-wonderin' what am de trouble, an' den I tries de do'. It am locked. Den I tries de back do' took another look at him. He had not moved and I decided to risk a shot. Of course he was so far away that it was a thousand to one that I would miss, but it was a chance all the same, so I steadied myself against a boulder and let drive. I did not hit him, but I made some shot at that, for I could see a chip of rock fly up from between his very feet. You ought to have seen him jump—straight up in the air, and his wings out as quick as you could snap a fan open. Then I started up the machine and managed to get aloft. He started in to try the rock game now and got hold of one as big as my head and commenced trying to get above me. He did not follow me. The last I saw of him was nothing but a speck in the southwest and still going. That is about all."

The luncheon had been finished for some little time and now North began to evidence signs of uneasiness. "Sorry to leave you so soon, but you will understand how necessary it is that I stick close to my machine. Most of us are going to roll up in our blankets and sleep beside our planes—they have furnished us with mat-could lay my hands on and hurried here," she panted. "Please take them—none can never tell when such things will be needed. It is almost nothing—just a couple of sandwiches and a small flask of brandy. Now go, and the blessings of humanity go with you." He accepted the package thankfully, smiling upon her with a grave, unbecoming smile.

"I thank you sincerely, Miss Fulton. And you rest assured that we will try as we never have before to rid the earth of this monster. Look at the faces of the boys! They have forgotten the reward now and have become soldiers to duty—a duty they owe to all mankind as well as their country. And you may depend upon their laying down their lives in this cause if self-sacrifice will accomplish the common good. For this stand we seek."

"Is neither man nor woman, He is neither brute nor human." The rush of a plane close by her caused her to shrink closer to North's machine, and as she did so he bent close to her. "Her name is Clare O'Norton and here is a letter addressed to her. Send it for me if I do not re-

POISON ON ARMS HANDS AND FACE

Appeared as Rash, Swelling and Itching. Became Sores, Greatly Disfigured. Could Not Sleep. Bought Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Skin Clear. No Return.

1202 Locust St., Philadelphia, Pa.—"My hands and face were seriously affected by what I thought to be poison from some plant. It first appeared as a rash accompanied by swelling and itching. Through scratching the rash became decided sores and it was impossible for me to do my regular work or place my hands in water. The poison spread over my arms, as well as my hands and face and my skin, usually clear, was greatly disfigured. I suffered considerably from the burning and itching and I could not sleep. For several weeks I had used Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, which produced immediate improvement and in about two weeks my skin was clear and there was no return of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. J. R. Adams, Dec. 2, 1911.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of its extreme purity, delicate yet effective, medicinal, and refreshing fragrance. It costs but little more than ordinary soaps, wears to a water and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet, bath and nursery. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample each free, with 25¢ Skin Book Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." *Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. The Stage and The Players.

Helena Van Brugh and Maud Allan in a Scene from "Bought and Paid For."

THE SOISSON.

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR." The most telling hit yet written by George Broadhurst, "Bought and Paid For," which has had one solid year's run at William A. Brady's famous New York Playhouse, is announced by Manager Robbins of the Soisson Theatre as his attraction for next Friday, March 7. Metropolitan critics and followers of the stage in general who have witnessed performances of the play, concede that in this story, treating of the marriage of a millionaire to a telephone operator, Mr. Broadhurst has captured the shining light set up by his previous successes. This strange union of wealth and poverty, as told in the play, proves a happy one until the husband betrays his one weakness, infidelity, and disclosure when under the influence of stimulants, a brutal side of his nature which so outrages his wife's sensibilities that she leaves him. They are brought together again by the strategy of the wife's brother-in-law, Jimmy Gilly, a shipping clerk, who abounds in superficial ideas. Mr. Broadhurst knows all the technical formulas to write plays that appeal, but in this piece he seems to have combined cleverly the elements necessary for popular success.

ABOLIN GRAND OPERA COMPANY. "The Tale of Hoffman," which will be given Tuesday night, March 11, at the Soisson Theatre, by the Abolin English Grand Opera Company, is the last and greatest masterpiece by Jacques Offenbach, the most famous of all opera composers, whose works were the rage for many years in Paris and other European capitals. When Offenbach first produced this opera in French at the Mathurien Opera House, it created a sensation that placed it at the head of his repertoire, and shortly afterwards, when the Abolin organization gave it for the first time in English in this country, it was received with equal enthusiasm. The usual grand opera fare embraces a whole range of the more vigorous opera comique to the heavier lyric drama. The former sort is the more popular with most lovers in general, and consequently the "Tale of Hoffman" has increased its vogue with each succeeding presentation by the

WELSHMAN CAUSES GOSSIP

Coal Baron's Name is Linked With Kentucky Developments. Trade interest in the formation of the Elkhorn Fuel Company, by Baltimore and West Virginia financiers is unabated and there has been much speculation as to its extent and purposes, much apparently inaccurate. As the fact that much of this land acquired by the new coal company will be leased to anyone desiring to develop it on a royalty basis. In this connection it is ascertained that wife D. A. Thomas, the Welsh coal man, who is connected with the Chamberlain Collieries, Cardiff, Wales and other fuel enterprises of Great Britain has been fully informed of the possibilities of the Elkhorn Fuel Company

Blue" company, to be seen at the Colonial Theatre, Monday, March 10, had his earliest ambition the idea of becoming a professional baseball player. It is a fact, nevertheless, and as a college youth he was considered one of the best amateur pitchers in the State of Ohio. Harlan was born in Zanesville, O., a town which he tried to make famous but scarcely succeeded, and learned to play baseball while attending school in that city. It happened that he was in Boston during the recent world's series contest and attended every game played in that city. It is a well known fact that the comedian, unlike some of his fellow actors, is most provident and an excellent business man, and has a competence not only through his acting but through fortunate managerial investments.

THE COAL TRADE

Operators Banked Tim Heavily on the Cold Wave.

The coal trade is slack, largely due to an overstocked market. Operators banked too heavily on the cold snap and glutted the market. In Chicago a buyer withdrew from the market and caused consternation. He happened to be the largest buyer. In the Pittsburgh district the fall is largely due to the fact that contracts are terminating and new agreements have not been made. Most of the mines are running on the basis of four days a week. Prices are easy. Baltimore reports that immediate business is discouraging but prospects on new contracts are brighter. At present prices are unsatisfactory, with labor and cars scarce. Indications point to increase of from 10 to 15 cents a ton on new contracts. Pennsylvania steam coal is being held at $1.25 to $1.35; Quakertown at $1.40 to $1.50; Georges Creek at $1.75; West Virginia coal $1.10 to $1.15 for three-quarter and 75 to 80 cents for slack. These prices on new contracts, would be generally satisfactory.

GREATEST OUTPUT

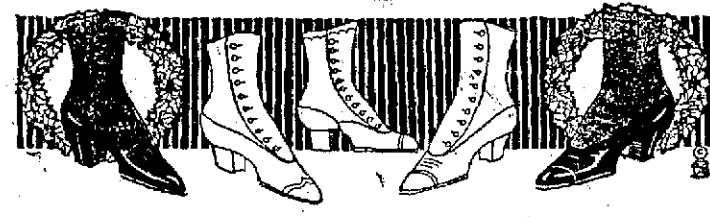

Vesta No. 4 Mine Has Broken World's Record.

During a period of 10½ years, the time it has been in operation, the No. 4 mine of the Vesta Coal Company, a subsidiary of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, has produced 1,237,593 tons. The mine employs 1,050 men inside. The property originally consisted of four square miles. The mined out area would make a tunnel six feet high, eight feet wide and 1,263 miles long.

NEW KENTUCKY PLANS

Another Fuel Company is Formed in the Elkhorn Field.

Another large coal company has been formed, to be known as the Mineral Fuel Company which is to have a capitalization of $1,250,000. The concern proposes to develop extensive properties in the Elkhorn valley of Kentucky.

It is learned on good authority, however, that the Mineral Fuel Company will expend about $250,000 in opening mines, building houses, etc. The announcement of the formation of the new concern covers the acquisition of 4,500 acres of coal lands from the Mineral Development Company and located in Letcher county, Kentucky. This property is not far from the Consolidation. Coal Company's 100,000 acre holdings in the Elkhorn valley.

The incorporators of the new fuel company are all West Virginians, being James O. Watson, A. B. Fleming, Walter Miller, C. M. Alexander and Brooks Fleming, Jr.
